

LOU GEMAS IS UNDER ARREST AT SYRACUSE

County Detective Leaves to Get Suspect in Safe Robbery Case.

OTHERS IN UNIONTOWN

E. R. McPoland in Jail on Charge of Robbery While Girl in Case Held as an Absconding Witness. Amount Stolen $2,500; $2,000 Recovered.

Lou C. Gemas, alias L. C. Evans, charged with being implicated in the theft of $2,500 from the safe at the West Penn pool rooms in Crawford avenue, Connellsville, last Saturday night, is under arrest in Syracuse, N. Y., with County Detective John J. Smith speeding on his way to that city to bring him back to Fayette county. E. R. McPoland, alleged accomplice of Gemas, and Elizabeth Evans of Uniontown, are in jail in Uniontown, the latter being held as an absconding witness.

Approximately $2,000 of the stolen money has been recovered, it being found in a room occupied by McPoland in Millville, Allegheny county. Whether any of the remainder had been recovered from Gemas was not known to the county officers today. It was reported last evening some of it had been found.

Information was made by County Detective Smith against Gemas and McPoland before Alderman Joseph Michaels in Uniontown, charging robbery. The girl is not charged with participation in the robbery.

Interviewed at the jail this morning the girl, who is about 23 or 24 years old, said her home has been in and about Uniontown, but that she is better known about Connellsville. She is unmarried, but admits having lived with Gemas, also says she has several children.

"I hope they will not send him to the penitentiary for thirty months," she said this morning at the jail. "I am really very fond of him. I think he was led into this by the other fellow."

The girl inquired what was meant by being held as an "absconding witness." When the term was explained, she declared: "Well, I don't know a thing about this. They can't get anything on me. They can't connect me with the robbery unless the boys lie."

News of the arrest of Gemas had reached Miss Evans.

The only worried prisoner has are whether Gemas will be sent to prison and whether her children will be taken from her. "They'll not do that, will they?" she asked.

When seen at the jail this afternoon McPoland, who is a railroad car body man, said he was in the case by the Evans girl. Gemas, he said, planned the robbery but said it could not be carried out by himself. The girl, McPoland said, played the part of a vampire and drew him (McPoland) into the case. McPoland said he had known her only a week.

At the instance of the girl, to whom he had taken a liking, McPoland said he agreed to keep watch outside the pool room building the night of the robbery, while Gemas tapped the safe. He said he had no part in the division of the money and received none after it was divided. He said he did not know how much was in the safe or how much Gemas got. He said he had been told Gemas had over $2,000.

This is the first trouble McPoland has been in, according to his story. His home is in Butler street, Millville, where his mother lives. He was married as to the effect the disclosure would have on his mother who is said to be a widow. McPoland said he had been employed for eight years as a railroad in the Pittsburg district. He is a brakeman.

According to McPoland Gemas and the Evans girl have been living together for a long time. She has been keeping him in funds for years, he said.

NO DECISION IS REACHED

All Parts of the Trolley Region is Represented at the Conference in Offices of Company in Pittsburg Yesterday; Situation Fully Covered

As a result of the conference held in Pittsburg yesterday by officials of the West Penn Railway company and members of the protestants committee complaining against some of the new fares inaugurated by the company in January, which are considered unfair in some instances, President A. M. Linn and other officials will make a tour of the system in the next four or five weeks and meet the protestants in their respective districts in an endeavor to iron out the differences.

The conference was held in the office of President Linn and was attended by several company officials and protestants committees from Uniontown, Connellsville, Mount Pleasant, Greensburg and Youngwood. The session lasted from about 10:30 o'clock to the 3 o'clock in the afternoon, with a recess at noon for lunch.

All the complaints were thoroughly gone over, each representative stating the desires of his community or district. All fare zones against which a protest was entered were discussed at length.

The Mount Pleasant delegates mentioned the fares at the Latsch end of the line, and brought up the matter of skip stops at that community.

Major Duggan, representing Connellsville and vicinity, entered a protest against the 10-cent fares from this city to Dunbar and Leisener. He asked for a five-cent fare to these places as previously.

Reginald Palmer of Uniontown suggested there be only five fare zones between Connellsville and Uniontown, instead of six and suggested overlapping some of the zones. Protestants from the Greensburg end asked for some say over fares in that district.

A friendly spirit prevailed throughout the meeting and all matters were amicably discussed.

Among those present at the conference were A. M. Linn, president of the railway company; Williston Fish, David McCabill, E. D. Dreyfus, H. L. FEW STOPS CUT OUT DURING WAR TO BE RESTORED

West Penn Railway Company Will Not Revert Completely to Pre-War Traffic Arrangement.

With the close of the war the West Penn Railway company is restoring some of the car stops that were taken off as the result of the skip-stop order, issued to conserve fuel. Not all of these stops will be put back on again, however, some being considered unnecessary and in other instances the new arrangement proving more satisfactory.

Through the skip-stop system the West Penn has been able to run cars on nearer schedule time than ever before, even on Saturday night which is something unheard of. It is figured that each stop means the delay of a minute and when several of these minutes are added up considerable delay in running time is a consequence.

An endeavor will be made to serve the public as well as possible and also to run the cars on time, it was said at the West Penn today. Quite a few stops have been restored on the main line of the system, but it is not likely the cars ever will run on the same schedule as before.

Some stops have been restored in Uniontown, and a few elsewhere on the main line. It is likely that all will be restored on the slower lines.

There were no stops of consequence. There were few of consequence. Side the stops at First and Third streets were taken off and combined into one stop at Second street. This change is considered much better than the previous schedule and will probably remain in force.

AWARD OF HELMETS TO BE ON STRICTLY COMPETITIVE BASIS

Eighty Will Go to Solicitors, Two to Each Victory Loan District.

SCHOOLS MAY WIN THEM

Five Will be Given Away in Contests to be Started Throughout County With Approval of County Superintendent Carroll; One for Schools.

Captured German helmets assigned to Fayette county by the War Department for distribution by the Victory Liberty Loan committee will be awarded upon a strictly competitive basis for distinguished service in the Victory Loan campaign. Participating in various competitions worked out by Vice Chairman W. Russell Carr will be school children, district chairmen, team captains, solicitors, industrial teams and 100 per cent industrial firms with more than 25 employees. The plan for awarding helmets to loan workers was worked out with a view of giving solicitors in the rural sections an equal chance with those in the cities and boroughs.

Eighty helmets will be awarded to solicitors, two in each district. One helmet will be given to the solicitor who sells the largest number of bonds and another to the solicitor in each district whose bond sales totals the largest amount. Three helmets will be given the three district chairmen with the highest percentage of subscriptions at the end of the campaign. Ten others will be given to the first 30 team captains reporting to headquarters subscriptions of over 80 percent of their prospect cards. To the first three districts going "over the top" a helmet will be awarded to the district chairman as a district prize to be placed in some public building in the district. Five helmets will be given the industrial teams making the largest percentage of subscriptions in the coke region. One hundred per cent industrial firms will compete for two helmets. One will be awarded for the largest average subscription per man and the other to the firm whose employees buy the largest volume of bonds.

Interest among school children, public and parochial in the bond campaign will be aroused by several contests to be started in the schools with the approval of County Superintendent John S. Carroll. Five helmets will be given to as many schools in the county exclusive of Uniontown and Connellsville, making the best percentage of subscription. Two helmets will be given to high schools, exclusive of those in the two cities. One helmet will be placed in Uniontown for competition among the children in the various grade buildings and the same plan followed in the grade schools of Connellsville. The biggest feature of the school contest will be the competition between the high schools of Uniontown and Connellsville for the inter-city bond record. Rules governing all of the school contests are:

Pupils are not asked to solicit any subscriptions outside their own immediate family. They are asked to make sure that their parents, brother or sister, living in the same home, with them, subscribes for a bond for some amount through an authorized solicitor.

When a bond is taken in a home, the purchaser must ask the solicitor for a memorandum of the purchase. This is important as the memo will not be issued unless requested.

The school pupils will secure the memo and deliver it to his or her teacher for credit. As the contest is planned upon a percentage basis teachers are asked to make sure that every subscription reported by the pupils is given credit. The loan committee suggests that a certain space on the blackboard be reserved for the Victory Loan record and when a subscription is reported to the teacher to place a tally mark on that space and add to it as successive pupils report subscriptions. No pupil may report more than one subscription. At the end of the campaign the teacher will count the tally marks and strike a room percentage for the purchase, memo, and deliver it to the principal who will establish a building percentage and make a report to Victory Loan headquarters.

All school contests with the exception of those in Uniontown and Connellsville will close Friday, May 4, owing to the fact that a number of county schools close on that day. The competitions in Uniontown and Connellsville, however, will extend throughout the loan campaign. A committee consisting of a county superintendent, John S. Carroll, John Farrell and Mrs. T. Baird Grubbs will award the helmets.

Deep seated Eric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every individual in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if two bottles of Allenburh, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agonizing swollen joints and go away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment. Allenburh has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless. Allenburh relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels. It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days. Connelville Drug Co. can supply you—Adv.

SCOTTSBURGH, April 17.—Scottsdale is losing interest in the system of garbage disposal council some time ago provided. To such an extent that this city become noticeable that the garbage committee of council has started a campaign intended to arouse the people to the necessity of taking advantage of the opportunity for disposal of refuse offered. But are not being paid and the patrons of the garbage department are not following the instructions as to placing the refuse in receptacles and placing the meter where they are easy of access to the collector. Assessments are payable each month at the office of the borough solicitor, F. B. Folk, but the payments are not coming in as they should.

The garbage question was a big one for Scottsdale to try to solve and with just a little help and encouragement from every citizen the system can be made a success, it is believed. Previous to the establishing of this method of gathering the garbage, children from the outskirts of the town collected the refuse. Every night milk was taken from homes, refrigerators on back porches were gone through. The juvenile collectors were believed responsible. One citizen stated that if all residents had been better looking milk, meat and eggs as he had they would be more than willing to pay the assessment to keep this undesirable class out of the town.

FAMOUS PEACE TREATIES

By H. IRVING KING

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

THE PEACE OF CAMBRAI (THE LADIES' PEACE) 1529.

Two Women Worked to Bring Peace to a War-Worn World.

The famous Peace of Cambrai, known as "The Ladies' Peace," because negotiated by two women, was signed in 1529 at a town famous in the annals of the recent war, and put an end to another "world war" which, with an intermission of 35 months, had been ravaging Europe for eight years and involved all the principal nations of Christendom. By the end of 1528 it was felt that Europe was exhausting itself in indecisive warfare. The French army in the kingdom of Naples was wasting itself in inconclusive engagements. The vast empire of Charles V felt the strain of the prolonged conflict and only the gold and silver which were beginning to flow in from America saved it from financial collapse. On all sides there was a desire for peace.

In June of 1529 peace was concluded between the pope and the emperor of Barcelona and it was suggested that delegates be appointed to try and bring about a peace between the two great heads of the war, the emperor and the king of France. King Francis appointed his mother, Louise of Savoy, and the emperor appointed his aunt, Margaret of Austria. It will be seen that the recent appointment of a woman as Hungarian ambassador to Switzerland was not without precedent.

Experienced in Political Affairs.

The two women to whom were now intrusted the destinies of the civilized world were not without experience in political affairs. Louise having twice been regent of France and Margaret having been regent of the Low Countries for her nephew. They were both about fifty years old. Louise, who had been a great beauty in her youth, still retained a portion of her good looks. In character they were the very opposite of each other. Louise was notorious for her amours, fierce, passionate, unprincipled and brilliant. Margaret was gentle, retiring, with a character above reproach and a clear, strong intellect.

It might have been expected that the meeting of two such strong and yet opposite characters, especially of the feminine gender, would have been more productive of "rows and ructions" than of a world peace. But such was not the case. The two ladies, agreed to meet at Cambrai in the latter part of June. They hired adjoining houses and secretly had a passage constructed between them. There were a lot of other delegates and representatives of various nations gathered at Cambrai, of course, and according to the customs of those days a lot of squabbling over who should walk first, or ride first, or call first, went on, together with attempts at sharp political tricks—all this with fasting and penance. The two ladies attended strictly to business, unsuspicious by the others and accredited with full powers by the emperor and the king.

They Signed a Treaty of Peace.

After a month of conferring, during which they passed many times a day through that secret passage of theirs, they announced to an astonished world on August 5 that they had signed a treaty of peace between Francis I and Charles V. The Italian princes who were vitally interested, complained that they had not been consulted and Henry VIII swore a string of his favorite oaths that so little attention had been paid to him. But the thing was done. The ladies had arranged the peace on the principle of "give and take," acting frankly and dealing squarely with each other. The treaty was a good one—though Venice was rather hardly used and territories disposed of without the consent of their rulers or their people—and it brought peace, for a few years at least, to a war-weary world.

It's All the Same.

One day in a small camp in France I chanced upon a negro who was loading a freight car with Red Cross material. This young fellow was working in a lazy fashion and I told him that he was not very ambitious. "Man," he said, "there is no use having ambition in this man's army; Uncle Sam gives me the same dollar if I got ambition or if I ain't got ambition."—Chicago Tribune.

KIDNEYS WEAKENING? BETTER LOOK OUT!

Kidney and bladder troubles don't disappear of themselves. They grow upon you, slowly but steadily, undermining your health with deadly certainty, until you fall a victim to incurable disease.

Stop your troubles while there is time. Don't wait until little pains become big aches. Don't trifle with disease. To avoid future suffering begin treatment with GOLD MEDAL HARRIS' OIL CAPSULES now. Take three or four every day until you feel that you are entirely free from pain.

This well-known preparation has been one of the national remedies of Holland for centuries. In 1699 the government of the Netherlands granted a special charter authorizing its sale. The good housewife of Holland would almost as soon be without food as without her "Red Dutch Pills," as she quaintly calls GOLD MEDAL HARRIS' OIL CAPSULES. Their use restores strength and is responsible for a great measure for the sturdy, robust health of the Hollander.

Do not delay. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL HARRIS' OIL CAPSULES. Take them as directed, and if you are not satisfied with results your druggist will gladly refund your money. Look for the name GOLD MEDAL on the box and accept no other. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

PIG IRON PRODUCTION IN 1918 GREATER THAN 1917 BUT LESS THAN 1916

Was Restricted During Early Months
by Coal Shortage and Interruptions to Transportation.

A year ago every nerve was being strained to produce the last possible ton of pig iron, but now it is only of passing interest to know just how much iron was made during the year, says the American Metal Market. The official statistics, just completed by the American Iron and Steel Institute, show that production was as follows, by comparison with the two years preceding:

Year.	Gross tons
1916	12,484,797
1917	35,651,216
1918	30,051,391

So far as concerned prosecuting the war, enough pig iron was made, although there was danger there would not be, and it was highly desirable that there should be a surplus as a matter of safety.

The year's output was quite nondescript, greatly restricted in the first two or three months by coal shortage, due to railroad conditions, and relatively heavy during the remainder of the year. Again, the output came from greatly increased furnace capacity, but individual performance of furnaces was restricted in many instances by poor coke, inefficient labor and some minor influences.

Production in the second half of 1918 was 26,824,261 tons, or at the rate of more than 41,500,000 tons a year. Productive capacity at present is easily 42,000,000 tons, and it is not improbable that with favorable conditions all around 41,000,000 tons could be made in a twelve-month.

The task of finishing this war job was thrown to us from 70,000 failing hands that now lie under the turf in northern France.

How many of you have even remotely approached their sacrifice?

Mighty few.

But you have one more chance in the Victory Liberty Loan; one lone chance to redeem yourself.

BI WHOM THE LOAN MUST BE TAKEN.

During the Victory-Liberty Loan drive the team workers will find a number of persons who have been subscribers to the preceding loans who will not be able to round out the series by subscribing to the last. This condition will be found to prevail at the coke works and other industrial plants which are now idle or are running on a short, working schedule.
The employees are not receiving regular pay envelopes such as they drew every two weeks during the war. The business of the country. The much reduced earnings of the present are,
in many instances, barely sufficient to provide for the actual living necessities of the workers' families and they have nothing left with which to buy bonds. This creates a condition which throws upon others the burden of absorbing the final loan of the war series, and calls for sacrifices by those who have not yet really known the meaning of the term.

The war brought to many individuals opportunities for large profits which they have not shared with their country in the same proportion as have others who were dependent upon daily toil for a livelihood or competence. Still others who enjoyed no increase of income during the war, but were required to bear the burden of the increased cost of living, have out of a meagre wage or salary, contributed to every activity associated with winning the war. In doing so they have made real sacrifices which have been keenly felt but which they were proud, even glad, to make. In the forthcoming campaign this class of patriots will still be found willing to make new sacrifices and subscribe to the utmost of their ability, which,
of necessity, has become more millions because their income has not increased.

Because of the reduced purchasing power of this class of bond takers, and the elimination of a large number of wage earners from the list of subscribers, these whose means and resources have been increased through the agency of wartime business must make up the deficiency. Many of this class of persons have been large contributors to the Red Cross, Y. M. C.
A., Knights of Columbus and other war organizations and have invested in all of the bond issues, but by comparison with those who have lost instead of gained by the war, or by comparison with the sacrifices made by the young men who gave up their lives in France, they have done little thing. The time approaches when they must do something more nearly in proportion to their ability or as they have been prospered, or forever bear the stigma of being slackers and profligate. They must take the bulk of the Victory-Liberty Loan.

NEWSPAPERS AND THE "DRIVES"

The aid rendered by the newspapers of America in every form of activity
the success of which depended upon an aroused public sentiment has been acknowledged by every person or agency having the direction or control of any of the campaigns, or "drives," but by none more cordially than by the American Red Cross. Referring to the wonderful success of the recent country-wide drive for the collection of cast-off clothing for war sufferers
an official statement from headquarters says:

"Over 300,000 pounds of used clothing, in 2,100 bales, were started to Europe April 7th, as the first shipment of over ten thousand tons of clothing collected for the Red Cross on its recent country-wide drive. Two thousand additional bales lie at the docks awaiting transportation.

"Two shipments will be sent out each week until the total of well over 10,000 tons has been shipped. Clothing is sorted, packed and baled for shipment in 150 pound bales. Fifty workers at the Brooklyn warehouse, where these garments are baled, keep them pouring through a funnel into the assorting chamber, where they are divided, made into bundles and enclosed in burlap. The electric press takes out a bale every five minutes.

"The enormous success of this campaign drive is largely due to the active and generous cooperation of editors, who not only gave space for its publicity, but used their personal efforts to make the notice conspicuous and attractive.

"The American Red Cross wishes to express to them and to the public who responded so promptly, their cordial and appreciative thanks."

"The newspapers do not presume to appropriate all the credit for the successful results of the clothing or any other campaign. They merely did what they felt to be their duty in making plain the needs of the hour and directing the attention of the public to the opportunity and duty that were presented. The big, generous response of the people was the real cause of the success."

THEIR BLOOD CRIES OUT.

Seventy thousand American soldiers, who gasped away their lives along the frontier of freedom, will rest eventually in the proposed great American memorial cemetery in southern France. Today they lie as they were hurled hurriedly after every battle. Near where they fell. And the blood of every one of them cries out to us to see that the job they died in doing is finished right.

That we do not prove ourselves quitters, now that the big danger seems past. That we prove true to our ideals.
Stand by humanity to the end. Maintain the honor of America before the world.

We sent these boys away, headed for the firing line, with all the pomp and panoply of the rising tide of our war spirit. We pledged them our united and enthusiastic support. We told them we were with them to the end. That freedom, and liberty and right must prevail; that Uncle Sam might have our last penny, our last effort. That no sacrifice would be too great. And we are going to prove false to all those pledges now?

Hardly. With the blood of 70,000 martyred Yanks crying to us from the sacred fields of France. Hardly.
When every day we have to look their fellows in the face. Hardly. When we see their crippled and limping comrades on every hand. Hardly. While conscience still whispers to us and guilt calls. And we still place any value upon self respect.

We must make good with these martyrs and Uncle Sam. Answer the call of blood, the call of duty. Subscribe to his Victory-Liberty Loan. Prepare to make good.

The 25th Division is facing toward what was lately its rear but it is not retreating.

The illuminating committee of the Home-Coming Celebration are not making light of their job, but they will make a good job of lighting the old town when the Boys Come Home.

South Connellsville is due for honors
as the first municipality of Fayette to provide a permanent memorial for its service men.

With the progress in removing the old Fourth Ward school building as a basis it is presumed that a steel triumphal arch at Brunstone Corner would be completed in time to honor the boys who come home from the Next War.

With the Duquesne Limited back on the schedule we will begin to realize that the war is really over.

"Dry" Forehandness at Uniontown.

News Standard.

The private "booster" collections in Uniontown are fast becoming an object of wonder, not to say amazement, to those who have not yet taken the thought of tomorrow and the great change that will come in the twinkling of an eye just ten weeks hence.
Starting as far back as last year when liquor could still be purchased at a price that did not cause the conscience to quiver every time the cost was considered, and continuing in ever increasing volume as the day of reckoning approaches, men with money all over the city have been acquiring collections of distilled and brewed beverage that would shame
many of the county's smaller hotels.
Some of the city's most eminent men have not considered it unbecoming to place their orders in barrel puns and it is not the proud boast of one distinguished citizen that he can have ten highballs a day for 111 years, all without leaving the security of his own abode. He falls to say just how much of this century plus existence he hopes to enjoy. The fruits of his foresight, he possibly can alter his program to make it 21 highballs a day for 54 years or for 21 years if the last schedule is left unaltered. It is a fact, however, that from the 10 bar men down to the but well satisfied owner of the gallon jug, men by dozens, scores and hundreds throughout the city are laying up their private stocks.
Most of the spirits thus put by are whiskey and brandy, the most common and ultra potent form of the intoxicating stuff being preferred on account of the smaller storage space of this potent "Whisky store barrel of Budweiser when a gallon of Samuel Thompson will produce the same results?" one man asks most ingeniously.

Generally speaking, however, little beer is being stored. Wines and brandy liquor have the call, the an-ber fluid being neglected because of its lack of "authority." And a local statistician has figured that if the conduct of the wise virgins is continued consistently during the remaining portion of the "wet" regime, there will be enough alcoholic drinkables "somewhere in Uniontown" to keep the heart happy and the head light for many years to come. Meanwhile July 1 gets closer.

THE BIG PROBLEM.

He's a Hunkle or a Wop, he's a Dago
or a Greek.

And the language of our country is a tongue he cannot speak.

He has sought the land of freedom for the dream is in his breast.

And he's groping rather blindly for the things he knows are best.

He's a power for good or evil, he will hate us or reverse.

And become a friend or traitor from the way we treat him here.

He has heard about our country, in a vague and hazy way.

It's the land where men are happy and where little children play.

But he's strange to all the customs that surround him now he's here.

And he misses much that's spoken but he doesn't quite know how.

He would like to do as we do, but he hasn't never grow to like us, if we all neglect him now.

There's a mighty force within him if we only understand.

We can spur him to our danger, or can mould it to our good.

We can turn our backs upon him, or we can make of him a friend.

Who will come to speak our language and the flag we love defend.

But it's not enough to pay him for the labor of his hand.

We must teach him all our customs and let him learn to love our land.

He's a Hunkle or a Wop, he's a Dago
or a Greek.

But he's very busy thinking, though his thoughts he cannot speak.

In the future he'll be something—that is true of every man—

And the blame may be upon us if he's not American.

So let's make of him a Yankee and let's treat him as a friend.

And let's teach him love of freedom
—it will pay us in the end.

Big Stocks on Hand and Business Depression

Here's a great opportunity for bargains. We have just passed through the greatest business boom ever in the history of our stores; we prepared for a continuation of it and here we are in the midst of a business depression, which means loss of business, no demand, and big stocks on hand. We merely call your attention to this so that you will understand there are now wonderful opportunities for big bargains at our stores. The goods are all bought right, prices are right, and the stocks must be reduced. It would be a great advantage to people living in nearby towns or in the rural sections, to patronize our stores. There is no doubt about the assortment of stock, the quality of the stock, no doubt about prices—we are lower than cost competition. This not only applies to foodstuffs but every other department in our stores, particularly dry goods, shoes, furniture, furnishings, etc. For furniture and house furnishings you will do better at our stores. Bear in mind that we operate regular department stores, most anything you can think of for sale, and every department now overloaded full tilt. It is a bargain time, a money-saving opportunity, and would be to your interest to visit and buy from the nearest store in your locality.

RECESSION IN TIDE OF COKE OPERATIONS STILL CONTINUES

More Plants and Ovens Being Added to the Idle List Each Week.

ONLY 40.9 PER CENT ACTIVE

Increase of 11,558 in Number Inactive Since Slump Began 12 Weeks Ago; Steel Price Deadline Stopped Trade Revival; Operators in Wading Wood.

From The Weekly Courier.

The tide of coking operations in the Connellsville region continues to ebb. With each recurring week here is a further reduction in the number of active ovens and plants with a consequent curtailment of output, a policy of restriction which is the determination of the operators, both merchant and furnace interests, to pursue until the bottom level is reached.

The extent to which the activity of the region has been lessened is best illustrated by a comparison between the conditions prevailing before the downward trend began to manifest itself and now. During the week ending January 18 when the high tide of the year to date was reached, production was 291,332 tons. For the week ending Saturday last, April 12, the production was 150,415 tons. A comparison of these totals shows a decrease of 140,917 tons, or 48.4 per cent, in the weekly production during a period of 12 weeks. At the same time there was a reduction of 11,558, or 32 per cent, in the number of ovens in blast, an average of almost 1,000 per week. Incidentally it may be noted that 40 out of 81 plants in the Lower Connellsville and 28 out of 70 in the Connellsville district, or 68 out of 151 in the region, are idle.

Last week's falling off in production was approximately 22,000 tons, or 14.5 per cent from the preceding week. Of the 1,431 ovens added to the idle list 996 were at plants of the H. C. Frick Coke company and 435 at merchant plants, leaving but 14,79, or 40.9 per cent, of the total in operation. The Connellsville district still leads but only 43.4 per cent of its ovens are active compared with 38 per cent in the Lower Connellsville district. The merchant plants maintain relatively the greater rate of activity, 49.4 per cent of their ovens being in blast against 35.8 per cent of the furnace interests. Of 5,322 Frick ovens only 6,330, or 33.5 per cent, are in operation. Those include ovens at plants recently diverted to the production of by-product coal for Clairton.

The merchant operators continue to have considerable interest in the steel price controversy believing a settlement of the issues involved will mark the beginning of a revival in coke demand. This has foundation in the fact that promptly upon the announcement by the Industrial Board of the reduced prices to which the steel makers agreed, inquiries began to appear for coke, but they are promptly answered when the Director General of Railroads declared his intention to withhold placing orders at the announced prices. On the steel price proposition as a whole the coke operators have all along favored a cut to the limit, the safest and surest method of reaching a starting point for a substantial and permanent revival of industrial activity in which the use of steel is a large factor. Coke prices having already reached their level a limitation of the steel price situation would not only halt any further downward tendencies in coke prices but, under the stimulus of a more active demand, doubtless operate to raise coke prices, at least by fractional increments.

Meanwhile the coking operations are narrowing down to those plants having contracts, spot or prompt shipment orders having become a rarity. The operators are taking a philosophical view of the situation, ready to make further curtailments to suit diminishing requisitions for coke or ready to swell production if need be. There is a better tone to the team coal market and some new business is being done in that line. By-product coal is stagnant, however, and without either market or inquirer.

The estimated production of coke for the week ending Saturday, April 12, was 150,415 tons, of which 92,373 tons, came from the Connellsville and 58,042 tons from the Lower Connellsville district, decreases of 15,019 and 5,018 tons respectively, or a total decrease of 21,335 tons, compared with the preceding week. By interest, the production was: Furnace, 98,665, a decrease of 18,465 tons; merchant, 51,750, a decrease of 3,480 tons.

The estimated production in net tons of coke for 1919, compared with the corresponding weeks of 1918, is shown in the following tabulation:

Business is Changing from Center to Circumference.

Not for many years has it been so important for business men to keep posted on what is taking place, not only in their own line but in all other lines. COKE TRADE SUMMARY.

While the Connellsville region preserves its equanimity, and maintains a waiting attitude toward a revival in the trade, following an untangling of the steel price snarl, the operators continue to blow out ovens and plants as a measure of defense against a glutted market. Last week 1,432 ovens were added to the inactive list reducing the number in blast to 14,739, or but 40.9 per cent of the total available for operation. In the past 12 weeks during which curtailment has been the order a total of 11,558 ovens, or 32 per cent, have been blown out. Production has meantime fallen off from 291,332 to 150,415 tons, a loss of 48.4 per cent since the week ending January 18.

As the result of the continued diminishing demand for coke practically no plants are in operation except those having contracts and these are being held in check in anticipation of required requisitions for coke. Both the coke and the pig iron markets are merely dragging along both without prospect of change unless it be in the direction of lessened demand, until the clearing of the steel price situation and the signing of the treaty of peace will chronicle the end of the "restoration" period in industry. Both of these events lack the element of certainty within a short period hence, the situation remains undisturbed even to the hopeful promise of an early peace. Coke prices remain unchanged at $12.50 for furnace and foundry $14.50 for $5.00, some odd lots of demurrage furnace going at $3.75.

POWERFUL PILE REMEDY DISCOVERED

Has Never Failed to End Most Obstinate Case of Piles in Few Days.

For years it has been proved that so-called external remedies applied to the treatment of piles, that even chronic cases of from 20 to 30 years standing with profuse bleeding have been completely cured in from three to ten days. Think of it! Just a few doses of a carefully balanced prescription and the most persistent case of piles is absolutely never to return. Just read what Henry J. Stone of the Lorain, Ohio, Fire Department says:

"I had bleeding and protruding piles for three years and tried all kinds of remedies without result, but was thoroughly cured after taking one bottle of Miro."
"Frank J. Phillips of Bird Island, Minnesota says:
"I used half a bottle of Miro. It worked like a charm. I no longer suffer with bleeding and protruding piles. I never regretted the money for such blessing as I am now enjoying. I would have used the whole bottle but it was not necessary."

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Directly to the little trouble to obtain it is to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT: What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. For sale by the Connellsville Drug Co.—Adv.

PIG IRON WILL RETURN TO OPEN MARKET LIKE THAT OF FORMER TIMES

Steel Will Be Regulated More Closely But Buyers Think It is Too Early for a Bottom Level Price.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trades tomorrow as follows:

The excitement caused by the refusal of the director general of railroads to approve steel prices proposed by the Industrial Board after reaching an agreement with the producers is subsiding. The wordy duel in the "Pitt-Rice" controversy, as well as the daily newspaper comment, is distinctly amusing. One would suppose that a large volume of railroad buying was held in abeyance, whereas at the most the Railroad Administration has occasion to buy but little, when the railroads still have about 500,000 tons of rails due them on old orders, on a 40 basis or less, and have also many idle cars and locomotives.

The true inwardness of the issue is that the Industrial Board had hoped that railroad buying would induce the general public to take hold, while the steel producers felt that the functioning of the Industrial Board would enable them to meet and discuss prices and secure governmental approval of prices they had agreed upon. The agreement of March 20 between the producers and the Industrial Board left two loose ends, representing approval of the Department of Justice and concurrence of the Railroad Administration.

The iron and steel market will now return, in essential features, to the character that obtained before the war. There will be an open market in pig iron as there has been from time immemorial, and there will be a controlled market in steel dictated by the unwillingness of steel producers to cut prices for the limited reward such a course would give. At intervals, regular or irregular, price declines will occur, fresh stands being made upon each reduced price, just as was the case, for instance, in 1911. The steel producers do not feel that the time is yet ripe for seeking a bottom price level on which to build, and with the overhead necessarily expended through light operation the disposition will be to maintain prices on the limited demand existing.

Steel mill operations are now about 70 per cent of capacity, and decreasing, comparing with a 77 per cent average in March and 87 per cent in January.

JOHN M'GRAW TALKS ON SPORTS AT YALE

College Scribe Interviews Vice President of Giants.

Expresses Satisfaction Over Re-establishment of Former Annual Game—Comments on Athletics at University.

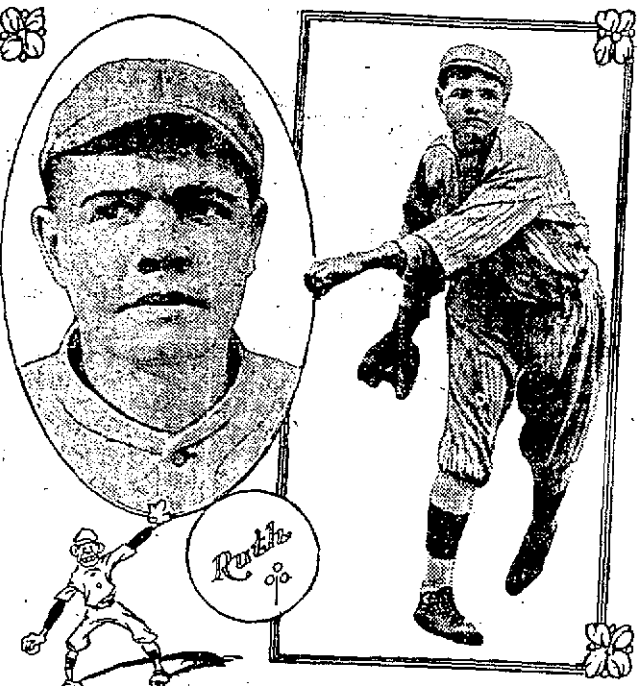

When interviewed in regard to the university game with the New York Giants on April 22, John J. McGraw, the vice president and manager of the New York Ball club, expressed great satisfaction over the re-establishment of the former annual game. He also commented on and discussed the university athletic policy and the general condition of college sports. Mr. McGraw said in part:

"I am very glad on my part that the game with Yale has been re-established. It is always an interesting game and gives us all some good practice. To open the season at the Polo grounds is a privilege and a prestige that we are glad to give to such a worthy institution as Yale. I am delighted."

When the new athletic policy of the university was explained to Mr. McGraw he replied:

"That seems to me to be a good policy to follow. The university teams encourage athletics, and as a re-

Premier Left-Hander of Boston Red Sox.

Babe Ruth, premier left-hander of the Red Sox and peerless when it comes to knocking the ball out of bounds, frankly declares his desire to get into the roped arena is no joke. He doesn't like the idea of not being allowed to box, for he thinks he could make more money at it than at baseball. Secretary Graver reminded him that he had agreed to his contract with the Red Sox not to indulge in any other sports than baseball, but Ruth says he is in earnest and figures it would be a great business for him. Ruth is now twenty-five years old and is considerably over playing weight.

sult of the general athletics you are able to get better athletes and better ball players on your university teams.

"As regards training tables they are helpful in many cases, where a man is preparing for one big push, as a boxing match or a track meet, or even for a game of football, but they are not vital assets of a ball player who goes through a long season. It is the same for both college and professional players, although the college season is not so long."

"However, no matter what they do, I hope to see the old college game come back. Let's see things as they were in the good old days before the war. Every year men try to modify baseball rules, but every year when we come back we are still playing under the same rules. I hope that when this period has passed with all its benefits we will be back again as it was in former times."

"Above all, when they are making vital changes in athletics policy, they should take the word of those men who have been through the game, and not let outside men working on theory dictate to them."

Australians Take Kindly to Proposed Yankee Cyclone Invasion During Next Autumn.

John M. Chapman's proposal to take a team of American cyclists on an Australian tour next autumn is received favorably in the antipodes, according to reports exchanged. Commenting upon the tour the Sydney sporting says:

"The Australian sporting public have read so much of Frank Kramer that they will flock to see this great rider in action. He has won the American championship in 17 out of the last 18 years. He is still a comparatively young man at thirty-eight, and as the Australian climate agrees with American athletes, he would shape at his best, for Kramer is a very clean living man, neither drinks nor smokes, and unlike most successful athletes retires to bed early."

"Just imagine the Sydney Cricket ground, illuminated as it was in the good old Sydney Thousand days, and Kramer, Spencer and other crack sprinters tearing for the line. It makes one's mouth water. Cycling in Advance showing of pretty after-noon frocks for summer, reveal many lovely models made of sheer, plain voile. Besides these, there are striped and figured voiles and among them some fine, imported weaves, that are to be reckoned with. The latter are high priced, in fact considerably more expensive than plain georgette. They appear in patterns and color combinations that are very beautiful. But even so, the dress of plain voile or georgette rarely suffers by comparison with a rival made of the figured patterns. The home dress maker will succeed often with a plain fabric, especially if she makes a little excursion in designing on her own account.

Of Voile and Silk

The frock of plain voile shown in the picture, bespeaks the work of a professional designer who is trained to make the most of fabrics—that is to adapt them to styles in the best way. In this case nothing is used with the voile but a little silk piping, but these simple means proved equal to making a dress of smart distinction and one that is easy enough to copy.

All the sheer fabrics are made up over silk or satin and this frock has an underskirt and bodice of silk. A wide flounce of the voile is set on the underskirt and above it a tunic is accomplished by three hemmed flounces set one above another. These are all narrower at the right than at the left side, so that the tunic is longer at the left side.

The bodice is made in the effect of a little jacket of the voile, bordered with cross-bar ticks and the sleeves are set into deep cuffs of the tucked voile. For a girle a ribbon woven in checkerboard pattern proves an effective bit of craftsmanship with little pendent balls of silk set on the bodice just above it at each side.

Japanese crepes, delicate of hue, in pretty broadened effects, and wide as to the crinkles. Women's frocks in spring weights, for spring dresses—in the new henna shade, the lighter blues and grays and sand shades. And among the cottons—and these are ready now, too—there are the famous Anderson ginghams and plain colors, plaids and checks, and fine tissues in woven plaids and stripes, with a silk thread running through to add prettiness.

BENEKER

HERBERT Cecil A. Beneker, the famous artist whose forceful painting entitled, "Sure, We'll Finish the Job," was so good that Uncle Sam is going to print millions of them—just think what that means, millions of 'em—to display in every nook and corner all over the United States during the Victory Liberty Loan.

Beneker is interested in school children. In fact, he's so interested that he's personally going to write a personal message on copies of his celebrated picture to the boys and girls who write the best essays in this Victory Liberty Loan Essay Contest.

Mammoth and Man.

The first mammoth remains dug up in Europe were supposed to be those of gigantic men. In 1871 a learned professor at Lyone, from a pelvis and one thigh bone, "reconstructed" a man 19 feet high. Nor was the mistake without excuse, harnessed as the bones of the mammoth are remarkably human like. The vertebrae look like magnified copies of human spine sections, and the same is true of the shoulder blade, the pelvis, the femur, etc.

KIEV WELL WORTH A VISIT

Capital of the Ukraine Remarkable Combination of Old and New Cities.

Kiev contains about five hundred thousand inhabitants, and comprises four distinct districts, which may also be called separate towns. Podol, the commercial quarter, skirts the river Dnieper, and above it, on a steep declivity, is Likh, the residential quarter, and an enchanting spot in summer, with its handsome villas embowered in dark, luxuriant foliage.

North of that is Kiev proper, which contains the university and the cathedral of St. Sophia, a building erected in the eleventh century, but constantly repaired and added to that it is now a huge and towering structure with more than a dozen large golden domes.

Here also are the theaters, hotels and shops, which are quite as modern as those of Petrograd or Moscow. Petchersk, the fourth district, is well worth seeing, for it is honeycombed with caves and catacombs that in olden days were used as places of refuge and as monastic cells, and where, during holy festivals, one can scarcely move through the dense crowds of pilgrims, of whom three hundred thousand, annually visit this ancient and revered monastery.

Warships May Carry Mail.

Removing their side armor, protective decks, berthed side mail cruisers into five mail liners with plenty of room for passengers. That is the proposal which has the approval of the Swedish minister of marine for application to the Swedish navy's two largest warships. The vessels so pacified would have 2,000 tons dead-weight capacity with a displacement of 4,000 tons and a speed of 25 to 30 miles an hour. Sweden's navy numbers 68 war craft of all kinds, all of which are well designed and constructed, but rather small for actual war purposes. This appears to be the first serious indication of a possible peaceful use for naval units.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

England's Big Mistake.

On the 8th of March in 1783 the house of lords in England passed the stamp act, which led to the famous Boston tea party, the first militant act of the Revolution.

The English treasury had been drained by the Seven Years' war and the country needed money. The people of England were already taxed to the limit and King George and the English parliament decided that the most expedient way to raise money was to tax the American colonists and to establish the principle that the colonists must pay taxes to the crown even though they were not allowed representation in the English parliament.

"Why do you object to the study of botany in the schools?"

"It nearly ruined my digestion," said Mr. Growcher. "I cultivated the habit of calling vegetables by their Latin names until nearly everything I ate sounded as if it had come out of a doctor's prescription."

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE
The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime. Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork. By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Tiredness, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardice, are due in a large measure to blood nerves.

People with plenty of red blood and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to slack work and lean on others for guidance and support. There is hardly a more shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-Ferren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not faster in steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-Ferren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

CHAPTER XIV.

A Night, a Stone-Cutter's Shed, and a Voice Outside.

"Why have you come up here?" She came swiftly to his side.

"Thank the Lord, I made it!" He whispered, breathlessly. "I came up because there was nowhere else to go. I thought I heard voices—a man and a woman speaking. They seemed to be quite close to me. Don't be alarmed, Miss Cameron. I am confident that I can—"

"And now that you are here, trapped as I am, what do you propose to do? You cannot escape. Go back before it is too late."

"The Sprouse—where is he?"

"He is somewhere in the house. I will wait until he—Oh, Mr. Barnes, I am terrified. You will never know the—"

"Trust him," he said. "He is a man. We'll be safely out of here in a little while, and then it will all look simple to you. You are ready to go? Good! Sit down, do! If he doesn't return in a minute or two, I'll take a look about the house myself. I don't intend to desert him. I know this floor pretty well, and the lower one. The stairs are—"

"But the stairway is closed at the bottom by a solid steel curtain. It is made to look like a panel in the wall. You are not to venture outside this room, Mr. Barnes. I forbid it. You—"

"How did Sprouse get out? You said your door was locked?"

"He had a key. I do not know where he obtained—"

"Skeleton key, such as burglars use?"

"By Jove, what a wonderful burglar he would make! Courage, Miss Cameron! He will be here soon. Then comes the real adventure—the part of it I didn't come here tonight to get any flashy old crown jewels. I came to take you out of—"

"You—you know about the crown jewels?" she murmured. Her body seemed to stiffen. "Then you know who I am?"

"No. You will tell me tomorrow."

"Yes, yes—tomorrow," she whispered.

For some time there was silence. Both were listening intently for sounds in the hall. She leaned closer to whisper in his ear. Their shoulders touched. He wondered if she experienced the same delightful thrill that ran through his body. She told him of the man who watched across the hall from the room supposed to be occupied by Lord Alton, the secretary, and of Sprouse's incomprehensible daring.

"Where is Mr. Curtis?" he asked.

"Her breath fanned his cheek, her lips were close to his ear. "There is no Mr. Curtis here. He died four months ago in Florida."

"I suspected as much," he did not press her for further revelations. "Sprouse should be here by this time. I must go out there and see if he returns any—"

She clutched his arm frantically. "You shall do nothing of the kind. You shall not—"

"Oh! What do you take me for, Miss Cameron? He may be sorely in need of help. Do you think that I would leave him to God knows what sort of fate?"

"But he said positively that I was to go in case he did not return—in fifteen minutes," she begged. "He may have been cut off and was compelled to escape from another—"

"Just the same, I've got to see what has become of—"

"No! No!" She arose with him, dragging at his arm. "Do not be foolish. You are not skilled at—"

"There is only one way to stop me, Miss Cameron. If you will come with me now—"

"But I must know whether he returns or not—"

"Then let me go. I will find out whether he has succeeded."

He was rougher than he realized in wrenching his arm free. She uttered a low moan and covered her face with her hands. Undeterred, he crossed to the door. His hand was on the knob when a door slammed violently somewhere in a distant part of the house.

A hoarse shout of alarm rang out, and then the rush of heavy feet over thickly carpeted floors.

Barnes acted with lightning swiftness. He sprang to the open window, half-carrying, half-dragging the girl with him.

"Now for it!" he whispered. "Not a second to lose. Climb upon my back, quick and hang on for dear life!" He had scrambled through the window and was lying flat across the sill.

"Barnes! Don't be afraid. I'm strong enough to carry you if the vines do their part."

With surprising alacrity and sureness she crawled out beside him and then over upon his broad back, clasping her arms around his neck. Holding to the ledge with one hand he felt for and clutched the thick vine with the other. Slowly he slid his body out of the sill and swung free by one arm. An instant later he found the lattice with the other hand and the hurried descent began.

His feet touched the ground. In the twinkling of an eye he was picked up in his arms and dived across the little grassy plot into the shrubbery. She did not utter a sound.

Presently he set her down. His breath was gone, his strength exhausted.

"Oh, you—manage to—walk a little

"I shall try to keep going," she said quickly. "Forgive me if I seemed to falter a little. I—I am ready to go on when you say the word."

"You poor girl! Hang it all, perhaps you are right and not I. Sit still and I will reconnoiter a bit. If I can find a place where we can hide among these rocks, we'll stay here till the sky begins to lighten. Sit—"

"No! I shall not let you leave me for a second. Where you go I go!" She struggled to her feet, suppressing a groan and thrust a determined arm through his.

"That's worth remembering," said he, and whether it was a muscular necessity or an emotional exaction that caused his arm to tighten on hers, none save he would ever know.

After a few minutes prowling among the rocks they came to the face of what subsequently proved to be a sheer wall of stone. He flashed the light, and, with an exclamation, started back. Not six feet ahead of them the earth seemed to end; a yawning black gulf lay beyond. Apparently they were on the very edge of a cliff.

"Good Lord that was a close call," he gasped. He explained in a few words and then, commanding her to stand perfectly still, dropped to the ground and carefully felt his way for ward. Again he flashed the light. In an instant he understood. They were on the brink of a shallow quarry.

Lying there, he made swift calculations. The quarry no longer of use to the builder, was reasonably sure to be abandoned. In all probability some sort of a stone-cutter's shed would be found nearby. It would provide shelter from the rain that was falling and from the chill night air. He remembered that O'Dowd, in discussing the erection of Green Fancie the night before, had said that the stone came from a pit two miles away where a fine quality of granite had been found. Two miles, according to Barnes' quick calculations, would bring the pit close to the northern boundary of the Curtis property and almost directly on a line with the point where he and Sprouse entered the quarry at the beginning of their advance upon Green Fancie. That being the case, they were now quite close to the state and rider fence separating the Curtis land from that of the farmer on the north.

"Good," he said, more to himself than to her. "I begin to see light. Are you afraid to remain here while I go down there for a look around? I shall be gone more than a couple of minutes."

"The way I feel at present," she said, jerkily, "I shall never, never from this instant till the hour in which I die, let go of your coat tails, Mr. Barnes." Snatching the action to the word her fingers resolutely fastened upon the tail of his coat but upon his sturdy arm. "I would stay here alone for anything in the world."

"Heaven blessed you!" he exclaimed, suddenly exclaiming. "And, since you put it that way, I shall always continue to be within arm's length."

And so, together, they ventured along the edge of the pit until they reached the wagon road at the bottom. As he had expected there was a ramshackle shed hard by. It was not much of a place, but it was deserted and a safe shelter for the moment.

A workman's bench lay on its side in the middle of the earthen floor. He righted it and drew it over to the boarding. She laid her head against his shoulder and sighed deeply.

He kept his eyes glued on the door and listened for the first ominous sound outside. A long time afterward she stirred.

"Are you cold? You are wet—"

"It was the excitement, the nervousness, Mr. Barnes," she said drawing slightly away from him. "Isn't it nearly daybreak?"

He looked at his watch. "Three o'clock," he said.

There ensued another period of silence. She remained slightly aloof.

"You'd better lean against me," he said at last. "I am softer than the best boards, you know, and quite as harmless."

"Thank you," she said and promptly settled herself against his shoulder.

"It is better," she sighed.

"Would you mind telling me something about yourself, Miss Cameron? I should like to know whether I am to address you as princess, duchess, or just plain Miss."

"I am more accustomed to plain Miss. Mr. Barnes than to either of the titles you would give me."

"Don't you feel that I am deserving of a little enlightenment?" he asked. "I'm working literally as well as digressively in the dark. Who are you? Why were you a prisoner at Green Fancie? Where and what is your native land?"

[TO BE CONTINUED]

Holding to the Ledge With One Hand, He Felt for and Clutched the Thick Vine With the Other.

est caution. He could only pray that he was going in the right direction.

An hour—but what seemed three as long—passed and they had not come to the edge of the forest. Her feet were beginning to drag, he could tell that by the effort she made to keep up with him. From time to time he paused to allow her to rest.

"You are plucky," he once said to her.

"I am afraid I could not be so plucky if you were not so strong," she sighed, and he loved the tired, whimsical little twinkle she put into her reply.

To his dismay they came abruptly upon a region abounding in huge rocks. This was new territory to him. His heart sank.

"By Jove, I believe we are farther away from the road than when we started. We must have been going up the slope instead of down."

"In any case Mr. Barnes," she murmured, "we have found something to sit down upon."

He chuckled. "If you can be as cheerful as all that, we shall miss the rapturous," he said and, for the first time, risked a flash of the electric torch. The survey was brief. He led her forward a few paces to a flat boulder and there they seated themselves.

"I wonder where we are," she said.

"I am inclined to suspect that we are above Green Fancie, but a long way off to the right of it. Admitting that to be the case, I am afraid to retrace our steps. The Lord only knows what we might blunder into."

"I think the only sensible thing to do Mr. Barnes, is to make ourselves as snug and comfortable as we can and wait for the first signs of daybreak."

He scowled—and was glad that it was too dark for her to see his face. He wondered if she fully appreciated what would happen to him if the pursuers came upon him in this forbidding spot. He could almost picture his own body lying there among the rocks and rotting, while she—well, she would merely go back to Green Fancie.

"I fear you do not realize the extreme gravity of the situation. We must get out of these woods if I have to carry you in my arms."

How He Remembered Him

"Did your rich uncle remember you in his will?"

"Not personally. But he endowed a home for the indigent. I fancy he expected me to collect my share that way."

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH REMEDY FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalants and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the damp English climate as a constitutional treatment and would prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Eucalypti (Double strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little crystallized sugar and until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from deafness and head noises. Closed nostrils should open breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial—Ad.

At the Theatres

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE LOVE DEFENDER"—In which June Elvidge portrays the role of Hope Meredith, a good looking, bright American girl of fine ideals is being shown today. Hope falls in love with Frank Rodney, a young bleaker who troubles her. Some time after his marriage the husband decides he has made a mistake as he is still in love with another woman. He asks his wife for a divorce, but she refuses to give it to him. Then the other woman presses him to run away with her. It is at this point in the story that things happen at the riveting sort of a rate. As a matter of fact, the heroine at a rapid rate from the start to the finish through this drama and everything that happens is interesting and entertaining. "The Love Defender" is the sort of a picture that you will enjoy. It deals with the lives of people you know. It is jammed with surprises and filled with real sentiment. Frank Mayo plays opposite Miss Elvidge in the role of her husband and has one of the best roles that he has yet had. Madge Evans, the charming little star who has been seen in a number of the World successes has an important role. An interesting weekly review is also being shown Friday and Saturday. Madge Kennedy supported by John Bowers and other prominent stars, will be seen in "The Dream Girl."

THE SOISSON.

"THE REBELLIOUS BRIDE"—A five-part William Fox picture starring Peggy Hyland, the popular star, is being shown today. This is the story of an extraordinary marriage under the threat of death. Miss Hyland appears as Peggy, a wild fun-loving girl who is compelled to marry the first man she meets on a country road. She gets a millionaire and she has the hardest job of her young life figuring out what she will do with him after she gets him. How she gets into this dilemma, after fleeing from one man at the altar and eloping with a second, is told in a way both thrilling and amusing and how she gets out of the dilemma is shown in a surprising climax. A selected comedy is also being shown Tomorrow and Saturday. Robert Warwick supported by Elaine Hammerstein will be seen in "The Accidental Honeymoon." Never has Captain Warwick appeared in a role which fitted him better and never before has he acquitted himself with finer accomplishment. Young romance is the dominating influence of the story. There is much bright comedy some unique and amusing situations and a steady flow of interesting incidents leading up to a fixed purpose. Captain Warwick enacts the role of a young aristocrat, who is despondent and tired of life until a certain young girl catches on his vision. He sets out to win the girl for his wife but he has so much trouble in winning her that it often seemed as if his efforts were destined to fail.

A Wealth of Humor.

"Did you read where a saloonkeeper in New York, attacked by a hold up man, beat him with a bag of 'I've'?"

"That was a rich joke on the hold up man."

Music and Pictures.

"Is she fond of music and pictures?" asked the friend.

I should say so, replied the adoring young man. "She doesn't think any movie theater is complete without an orchestra."

Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD, April 17.—A well attended meeting of the committee on plans for Memorial Day was held in the Methodist Episcopal church on Tuesday evening. The interest displayed by those present gives assurance that Smithfield will retain her prestige as the banner community in the county in the observance of this memorial to our country's defenders, living and dead, of all wars. Dr. H.
B. Gulher, a returned veteran of the World War, was present and by his wise counsel and timely suggestion materially assisted the committee in arranging a program for the day. It was through the doctor's suggestion that the adjutant of the Jerry Jones
Post, No. 841, G. A. R., secretary through the secretary of No. 4 draft board of this district the name and address of every draftee of Spring hill, Nicholson and Georges townships and send every one of them that has returned from the service an invitation. This along with an invitation to all Spanish American veterans and their families of all other wars will be done. The meeting was presided over by Rev. Ralph Bell, a temporary chairman. Rev. Austin was elected permanent chairman to succeed Rev. W. M. Ryan, who since last Memorial Day removed to Ohio. E.
Dale Field was elected secretary to fill a vacancy caused by the death of W. B. Phillips. Aside from these changes the old committee of last year was retained.

Max Phillips, discharged from the Army in France, is visiting Mrs. W. B.
Phillips, his mother, and other relatives here.

The writer is in receipt of a card

ing him of his arrival in New York

CUTICURA HEALS SCALP TROUBLE

Head Itched For a Year.
Could Not Sleep.

"My head itched for a year, and annoyed me so that I could not sleep at night. When I scratched it made my scalp
so tender and sore that I cried. My hair became dry, and I would comb a lot out."
"Then I sent for a free sample of Cuticura. It helped so I bought more, and I was healed with two boxes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment." (Signed)
Mrs. R. H. Runyan, 416 Anthony St.,

TONNAGE OF SAND AND GRAVEL DECREASED BUT VALUE GAINED IN 1917

Output 6,251,433 Tons Against 7,412, 552 in Preceding Year Sold for $5,250,000; Gain $1,250,000.

The effect of the war was shown on all classes of building, and on the raw materials which go into new construction. It was well illustrated in the common, everyday materials embraced in the terms "sand and gravel." Pen-sylvania has long been at the head of the list of states as regards the value of these products—this largely due to the quantities of high grade glass sands produced. Ohio, Illinois and New York all produce greater quanties of the coarse materials than Pennsylvania, but at regards value the last stands Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Illinois, in the order named.

There are many producers of the lower grade materials in the state, and just at the present time when such large quantities will be needed in the next few years for road building, the quantities produced and the places where the same can be had are of special importance.

Pennsylvania produces in normal times about eight per cent of the total output of sand and gravel in the United States and about 12 per cent of the value. During 1917 1,926,524 net tons of building sand were sold for $1,312, 424, an increase of 1,687,000 tons in quantity and $1,258,000 in value.

The materials which go into road work are classed as paving sand and gravel. Of the former 432,849 net tons valued at $356,575 were produced in 1917 and 1,721,481 net tons of the latter, valued at $988,579, a gain of $258,998
in value but a decrease of 519,700 tons in quantity.

The production of all kinds of sand and gravel totaled 6,334,635 tons, a decrease of 1,087,806 tons, but increased by $1,258,000 in value to an aggregate of $5,250,000.

ALL-SCHOLASTIC BASKETBALL FIVE CHOSEN BY WALL

Well Known Referee Makes Selections After Officiating
in Nearly 80 Games.

LOCAL PLAYERS HONORED

Jimmie McConnell, "Red" Struble and Captain Moore Win Places; Humes of Scottdale and Hutchinson of Monessen Are Other Two Mentioned

An all-scholastic basketball team for the season 1918-19 has been selected by D. Edward Wall of Scottdale, well known as a referee of the popular indoor sport. The Mill Town official has "worked" almost 80 Central Board games. In the capacity of referee he has come into touch with many different players and each man who is awarded a place on his all-scholastic team earned the honor by hard, consistent playing.

Three members of the Conneltsville high school team are mentioned by Wall. They are Struble at forward, James McConnell at center and Captain Moore at guard. The other members of the team are Humes of the Scottdale high at forward and Hutchinson of Monessen at the other guard.

On the second team are Fred of Bradstock and Conn of Monessen at forward, Byers of Union high of Turtle Creek at center, Mervis of Bradstock and Tyson of Uniontown as guards.

Speaking of Humes, the referee says he is one of the fastest forwards he saw on the floor this year and believes he has the makings of a wonderful player. Struble is considered an excellent running mate for Humes. While not as sure a shot as Humes, Struble made up for this with his speed on the floor and in passing the ball. He was also "there with the goods" on shots close up in front of the basket.

Speaking of his selection of Jimmie McConnell for center Wall says: "I may find some who will differ with me on my selections but I do not think anyone will doubt my choice for center. In McConnell I have selected the best shot I have seen on a high school team. He is one who can bank them in or shoot them straight from any position on the floor, and although in some games he has been outplayed by his opponent, he always came through with from four to nine baskets. He is a grand floor man and a hard, steady player."

At guard Captain Moore of Conneltsville high is selected. Moore played a "loafing" guard on the team and while he didn't score much he certainly broke up the opposing team's offense. With the exception of Humes of Scottdale, Moore has held the best scores on all teams played to one or two goals. He is considered a good leader who has his team playing a hard but clean game.

The other guard selected is Hutchinson of the champion Monessen aggregation. He is a "roving" guard and a good shot from both the floor and the foul line.

Concluding, Wall says: "I consider this selection one any official would find it a pleasure to work behind, but also one which would cause him to step some because all are fast."

Wall has refereed a large number of high school games during the season just closed and has always proved himself impartial. He has made his selections with much care and has seen all the men play in no less than three games.
